

Brexit - What it means for Phoenix Ireland customers?

David Woollett, Customer Director at Phoenix explains:

“There continues to be uncertainty in relation to the ongoing Brexit negotiations. The United Kingdom (UK) was originally due to leave the European Union (EU) on 29 March 2019 however, a series of extensions have been agreed which means Brexit is now scheduled to take place on 31 October 2019. I would like to provide assurance that whilst the Brexit negotiations progress we will continue to service our customers’ policies in the same way. We are also prepared for every scenario that Brexit may bring - our main aim being to reduce the potential impact to our customers.”

Republic of Ireland based customers - We have agreed with the local regulator that we can continue to manage your policy as we currently do, with no change to your terms and conditions.

We will continue to monitor the Brexit discussions and will update this website to keep you informed. If the ongoing Brexit discussions determine that your policy or the services we provide are going to be impacted we will contact you.
